Survive in the Wild

In Canada, camping is becoming very popular. People are bored by life in the city and they are looking for ways to get back to nature. Survive in the Wild is an organization that teaches people how to survive outdoors by using natural resources. Basic survival techniques include how to hunt, fish and prepare food and how to stay warm and safe. Here are three of the survival courses you can try.

On the Family Day course, you learn three basic skills in a day: how to build a fire, how to look for food and how to cook food. While you read this, a family is making a fire with friction.

If you're looking for adventure and you are free for the whole weekend, try the Adventure Weekend.

Right now, some people are making simple tools for hunting and a boy is climbing a tree. He's sleeping outdoors tonight, so he's looking for wood to build a fire.

Alternatively, why not try the Two-day River Safari? You can make a canoe and learn a lot of new skills. The course begins every Friday after school and there are lots of activities on offer. At this moment, one family is fishing, others are swimming, and the safari leader is chopping wood to build a fire.

From: Tom

To: Matt

Hi, Matt,

I'm doing a special course. I'm learning to survive in the wild. In the morning, we a build a fire and we b cook our breakfast.

Then, we often c hike for about 15km. In the afternoon, we d Look for food for dinner. Sometimes it's difficult to find anything, but we sometimes e fish from a small boat on the lake. Every night we f sleep outdoors under the stars.

It's great!

Tom
