Mary: Well, the weather's good. Let's go and have lunch!

A prestigious tortoise.

Reading:

Timothy the tortoise was about 160 years old when he died at his home near Exeter in November 2005. Timothy, whose early life was spent at sea, was thought to be the oldest resident in Britain at that time. He was found by a British naval officer, Captain John Courtenay Everard, on a Portuguese ship in 1854. Everard, who was a relative of the Earl of Devon, adopted him and it became the mascot on a succession of British ships for nearly forty years. In 1892 it went to live at Powder Ham Castle, which is the historic home of the Earls of Devon, and in 1935 it was given a permanent home in the castle's rose garden. Throughout his long life, Timothy showed a keen instinct for survival. During the second world war, for example, it felt the vibrations from the bombs that the Germans were dropping on Exeter and made its own air-raid shelter under some steps. It was also very healthy, never needing to see a vet until the last year of his life. At the time of its death, Timothy was owned by Lady Gabrielle Courtenay, who is the aunt of the current Earl of Devon. Lady Devon also lives at Powder ham, where Timothy was given a family funeral and was buried on the grounds of the castle.
