Helico - theory

- Is used to indicate a future event that will be ongoing (or “progressive”)

Forming the Future Progressive Tense

The future progressive tense is formed like this:

"will be" + [present participle ("verb-ing")]

The Negative Version

If you need the negative version, you can use the following construction:

"will not be" + [present participle]

- The Moscow State Circus will not be performing in Cheltenham for the next 3 weeks.

The Question Version

If you need to ask a question, you can use the following word order for a yes/no question:

"will" + [subject] + "be" + [present participle]

- Will the Moscow State Circus be performing in Washington?
- Will we be celebrating like kings?

“I’ve no idea how they managed to survive out there for three days,” says Mike Pontinsky. “But tonight the family is naturally very happy to be safe.” According to the ranger who eventually found them, Mr. Harrison was driving down a steep hill when suddenly the brakes on the car failed. The car continued down the hill faster and faster, leaving the road and continuing for 300 yards until it finally rolled over and hit a rock. “We call it an SCR – that means a Single Car Rollover. It causes more deaths here than anything else,” says Park Manager, Mike Pontinsky. He added that the crash happened 20 miles outside Furnace Creek, the hottest place in Death Valley. Luckily, none of the family members were seriously hurt in the crash. Mr. Harrison immediately tried to call 911, but his cell phone didn’t work. Mike Pontinsky confirms that unfortunately cell phones don’t work in many parts of Death Valley. Mr. Lenny Harrison, his wife, Jacqueline, and their two sons, Paul (aged 15) and David (aged 19), had decided to go to Las Vegas for their summer vacation. They had rented a 4 x 4 car for the day and were enjoying a great tour of Death Valley when disaster struck. Then the Harrison family discovered more bad news. They had only two bottles of water and a few bags of potato chips in the car. They hadn’t even had lunch that day because they were in a hurry to get back to their hotel in Las Vegas.

My own ghost story - The hands

Several years ago, I went to stay with some friends who lived in an old house in the country. I had not told them I was coming, and when I arrived, they already had other visitors.

"Never mind," said my friend Ella. "You can sleep in the small guest room. We don't often use it, but you'll be all right for one night."

As we said goodnight, Ella added. "Oh, and please, lock the door before you go to bed. Otherwise it may open by itself."

Well I locked the door, lay down in bed, and went to sleep. During the night, I slept badly; I didn't really know if I was asleep or awake. But suddenly, I knew I was awake. Hands were touching my face. I tried to push them away, but there was nothing. I found the light switch, and put on the light. There was no one in the room.

"It was just a dream," I thought. And I went back to sleep.

When I woke up next morning, I got another surprise. The door, which I had shut and locked, was open! During breakfast, I told Ella about my strange dream, and about the open door.

"You too!" she replied. "Yes, I know. that's why we don't often use that bedroom. It's the blind lady!"

"What blind lady?" I asked.

"Well, you see, many years ago, the people who lived here had a daughter who was blind. That was her bedroom. She died when she was about 30. And since then, she has kept coming back to her room. She always feels the sheets, before getting into bed. Several visitors have had the same experience.... But she was a lovely girl. She has never hurt anyone."

I felt the skin on the back of my neck go cold.... Since then, I have always believed in ghosts!

1. The speaker had been invited to a friend's house.
2. Ella had problems with the house doors.
3. The speaker couldn't get to sleep well that night.
4. The speaker felt hands touching her face.
5. Ella went over the room and unlocked the door.
6. The previous owner of the bedroom died at the age of 40.
