Then read the text and circle the correct option
for 1–6. Listen and check.

electricity plant a tree plastic pollution recycle
save energy solar power the environment
throw away trash waste water

Now

Then ... and now

Henderson Island is a small island between New Zealand and South America. It doesn't have any inhabitants; it's 114 km from the nearest town on the island of Pitcairn. Jennifer Lavers, an environmental researcher at the University of Tasmania, traveled to Henderson to investigate 1 pollution throw away. When she first saw a few photos of the island online, it looked perfect. All the beaches were clean and there wasn't any 2 water trash. But Lavers was shocked when she arrived; there was a lot of 3 plastic containers everywhere. She estimates that there are about 37 million pieces of plastic on the island.

‘Mega-cities’ are cities with more than 10 million inhabitants; there are currently 47 around the world. The biggest of all is Tokyo, Japan, with more than 38 million residents. When you compare photos of Tokyo from last century and today, the differences are amazing. Then, there weren’t many tall buildings, but now there are a lot. The tallest is the ‘Tokyo Skytree’ at 634 m. Tokyo is famous for its neon signs – there are more than in any other city in the world. The city uses a lot of 4 energy/waste, and it is trying to produce more 5 water/electricity from renewable sources like wind and 6 plastic/solar power.

2 Look at the words in exercise 1 again. Find:

- 1 one word that can be a noun or a verb waste
- 2 one phrasal verb throw away
- 3 a synonym for trash garbage
- 4 one material plastic
- 5 one type of energy electricity
- 6 three actions that are positive for the environment plant a tree recycle save energy

3 Complete the sentences with information from the text.

- 1 Henderson Island is between New Zealand and South America.
- 2 Jennifer Lavers works at the University of Tasmania.
- 3 There are about 37 million pieces of plastic on the island.
- 4 A 'mega-city' has more than 10 million inhabitants.
- 5 There are 47 mega-cities in the world.
- 6 The Tokyo Skytree is 634 meters tall.

4 Answer the questions using short answers.

1 Are there any residents on Henderson Island?

No, there aren't.

2 Were the beaches polluted in the original photos?

No, they weren't.

3 Was there a lot of plastic trash when Lavers arrived?

Yes, there was.

4 Were there many skyscrapers in Tokyo last century?

No, there weren't.

5 Are there any mega-cities in your country?

Yes, there are.

Grammar: was/were and there was/were

- 5 Read the examples. Which forms do we use with singular nouns, plural nouns and uncountable nouns?

Jennifer Lavers was shocked because all the beaches were polluted.

There weren't any people on the island, but there was trash everywhere.

Read the examples. Which forms do we use with singular nouns, plural nouns and uncountable nouns?

singular nouns

was / wasn't

2

plural nouns

were / weren't

3

uncountable nouns

was / wasn't

- 6 Complete the text with the correct form of was/were or there was/were.
Is Los Angeles a mega-city now?

LA: from small village to movie empire

In 1841, Los Angeles 1 was a very small place – there were only 141 inhabitants!
3 There was a lot of countryside and there weren't many buildings. Most of the residents
5 were farmers. But by 1900, the population
6 was more than 100,000. By 1920, the movie industry 7 was very important, and 80% of the world's movies 8 were made in Hollywood, in Los Angeles. Now, about 4 million people live in the city.

Grammar: too, too much/many, (not) enough

- 8 Read the examples and complete the rules with the words in the box.

adjective countable noun uncountable

Can a city be too big? It's a problem if there are too many people and there aren't enough resources for everyone.

- 1 We use too before a(n) adjective.
- 2 We use too much before uncountable nouns and too many before countable nouns.
- 3 We use (not) enough before a(n) noun or after an adjective.

9 Complete the text with too, too much/many or (not) enough.

Pag 9

My town definitely isn't 1 too big. In my opinion, it isn't big 2 enough ! There aren't enough places for young people to go out. Although my town is quite small, there's 3 a lot of traffic because the main road goes right through the center. So there are 4 too many cars and trucks but there are 5 not enough buses to take us to the city. I wish I lived in the city!

Circle the correct option. Are the sentences true or false for you?

- 1 My town doesn't have some/any beaches.
- 2 People have planted many/a lot of trees in my town.
- 3 There isn't much/a few pollution where I live.
- 4 My town is a/an amazing place to live!
- 5 We can recycle some/any plastic containers at my school.
- 6 There aren't much/many students at my school.

thank you!
