CULTURE

And the Oscar Goes to ...

Every year, all over the world, movie fans and the entertainment community turn their attention to the Academy Awards (or the Oscars, as they are affectionately known). The awards are presented during a glamorous ceremony by a non-profit organization called AMPAS (Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences), based in Beverly Hills, California.

Nowadays, the Academy Awards ceremony has 24 categories, but the ones fans look forward to are: Best Picture, Best Actor in a Leading Role, Best Actress in a Leading Role, Best Supporting Actor and Best Supporting Actress.

All the winners receive an Oscar statuette – a knight standing on a reel of film and holding a sword. Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Art director Cedric Gibbons designed it. The statuette is made of gold-plated metal, stands 34.3cm tall and weighs 3.8kg.

A popular story suggests the statuette was named after an Academy librarian said it looked like her uncle Oscar. However, the origin of the nickname has never been determined.
